1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 are 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bartos et al. (U. S. Pat. No. 4,059,123) in view of either Graham, (U. S. Pat. No. 2,659,629) or Harrison (U. S. Pat. No. 2,845,465).

Re claim 1, Bartos (see fig. 2) discloses a cleaning device for a combustion chamber having a hollow tank (22, 24, 20) for storage a liquid mounted with a tubing module (72) and a connection hole (at 70) for connecting with an air-inlet tube (70) , characterized in that the top face of the tank is provided with a liquid inlet hole (80) having a threaded cap, and the top end of the tank is an liquid-out connection hole for mounting with the tubing module, and the tubing module is connected to a spraying gun tube (94), and the air-inlet tube does not extend into the liquid in the tank and the that differs from the claim only in the recitation of the threaded filler cap and the tubing module having an air-mixing tube and a combination tube in communication with the interior of the air-mixing tube, and the combination tube extends into the liquid, and the surrounding of the air-mixing tube is a pressure-increase hole having a height higher than the height of the liquid, and the pressure-increase hole is in communication with the air-mixing chamber and the interior of the tank. The patents to Graham (as at 21 and Harrison, as at 42, upper level) discloses the mixing chamber as claimed. it therefore would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the device of Bartos, to include a hole as taught by either Graham or Harrison, for the purpose of enhancing the cleaning process. Re claim 5, Harrison discloses the circumferential face as claimed.

3. Claims 2-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. In Vataru et al., Amundsen, Chen, Karnauchow et al., Malo, Black, Brenner et al., note the dispensing means.
